

The mission of St. Augustine of Canterbury parish is to grow closer to Christ and to one another through worship, prayer, learning and service, and to dedicate our lives to serving Christ in the world through the power of the Holy Spirit.

The Eighteenth Sunday After Pentecost

A man had two sons; he went to the first and said, 'Son, go and work in the vineyard today.' He answered, 'I will not'; but later he changed his mind and went. The father went to the second and said the same; and he answered, 'I go, sir'; but he did not go.

Which of the two did the will of his father?"

Matthew 21:28-31

Who did the will of the Father?

In this week's Gospel, we find Jesus with another parable. (Matthew 21:28-32) This time, it is about two sons; one who did his father's will and the other who said that he would - but didn't. We do not know why the second son said he would go but didn't. Maybe he truly knew all along that he wasn't going to do what was asked of him, but the text does not make that clear. It could also be what happens to us. We say that we will do something, and then we find all manner of reasons not to do it. However, more than likely Jesus was aiming at something more than just someone who was overburdened or procrastinated when it came time to get things done. He was addressing the Pharisees, who were particularly hard of heart and would not change their minds even when asked to do so.

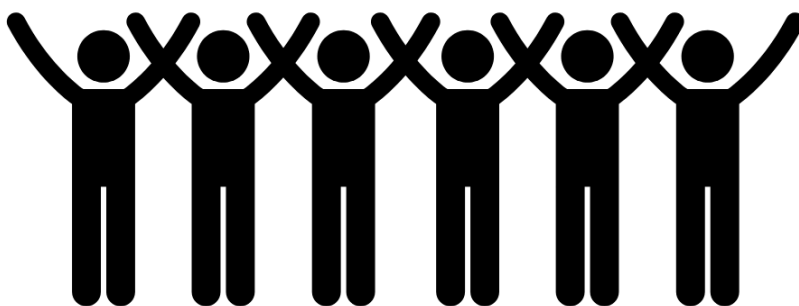

Jesus is clear, only one son did the will of his father. In our epistle for this Sunday, Paul tells us that Jesus "humbled himself and became obedient to the point of death-- even death on a cross.” (Philippians 2:8) Most of us will not be called to that level of action, but it is important to remember here that when it mattered the most, Jesus did the will of His Father, which resulted in salvation for us and changed the course of our destiny so that we may experience eternal life with Him forever. Jesus finishes out his rebuke to the Pharisees by telling them, “Truly I tell you, the tax collectors and the prostitutes are going into the kingdom of God ahead of you. For John came to you in the way of righteousness and you did not believe him, but the tax collectors and the prostitutes believed him; and even after you saw it, you did not change your minds and believe him.” (Matthew 21:31-32) Jesus’ point was that even as the son who at first was not going to obey, but did - so too, were the religious elite also called to do as that first son did. The fact that they would not is what made them the target of this parable. Let us also watch the places in our lives and hearts that call for us to be obedient to God, and those darker places in our lives where we might refuse to change, even when God asks us to.

Jesus Raises Jairus' Daughter

Mark 5:21–24, 35–43

What happens to our faith when the answer we are hoping for seems to come too late?

This Sunday, our children will continue their journey through the Gospel of Mark with the remarkable story of Jairus and his twelve-year-old daughter. Jairus was a leader of the synagogue, a man of standing in his community. But when his little girl became desperately ill, none of that mattered. He was simply a father who needed help. So Jairus went looking for Jesus. When he found Him, he fell at Jesus' feet and pleaded with Him to come to his home. "My little daughter is at the point of death. Come and lay your hands on her, so that she may be made well, and live." Jesus did not turn him away. He went with him.

But Jesus did not arrive as quickly as Jairus must have hoped. While they were still on the way, people came from Jairus' home with devastating news: "Your daughter is dead. Why trouble the Teacher any further?" Imagine that moment. Jairus had found Jesus. Jesus was coming with him. Hope had been walking beside him—and suddenly he was told there was no reason to hope anymore. But Jesus heard the message, turned to Jairus, and said something extraordinary:

"Do not fear, only believe."

Those words will be at the heart of our lesson this Sunday. Jesus continued to Jairus' home. When He entered the room where the little girl was lying, He took her by the hand and said, "Talitha cum," meaning, "Little girl, get up!" Immediately, she stood and began to walk. The people who witnessed it were overcome with amazement. And then Mark gives us one small detail that tells us so much about Jesus: He told them to give her something to eat. The One who had just demonstrated His astonishing authority over death also noticed that a little girl needed something to eat. His power and His tenderness appear side by side.

As we talk about Jairus' faith, we will help the children understand that trusting Jesus does not mean we will never feel afraid or that every difficult situation will turn out exactly as we hope. Jairus was facing something truly frightening, and Jesus did not dismiss his fear. Instead, He invited Jairus to keep trusting Him even when he could no longer see how the story could possibly end well. That is a lesson our children can carry with them. When they are worried, disappointed, or unsure of what comes next, they can bring those feelings to Jesus and trust that He will walk with them through it.

Over the past several weeks, our children have been discovering more about Jesus with every Gospel story. They have seen Him forgive sins, heal those who were suffering, and command the wind and waves. This week, they will see His authority displayed in an even more astonishing way. But perhaps what they will remember most is something quieter: Jesus walked with a frightened father all the way to his home. He entered a room filled with grief. He reached for a little girl's hand. And He brought hope into a place where everyone else believed hope was gone.

As our children leave Sunday School this week, we hope they carry with them the words Jesus spoke to Jairus—not as a promise that life will always unfold the way we want, but as an invitation to trust the One who walks with us even when we cannot yet see what comes next:

"Do not fear, only believe."

If you have children, grandchildren, neighbors, or know of a family who may be seeking a place where their children can grow in faith, learn the love of Christ, and feel a true sense of belonging, we warmly invite you to connect with our Sunday School ministry.

FEED THE LAMBS ENRICHMENT PROGRAM

Feed The Lambs Volunteer Opportunity!

Hi, my name is Anne Bourne. I have been a parishioner at St. Augustine's for about 3 years. I am looking for volunteers for Feed the Lambs.

In our effort to help these children, every day there is a folder of worksheets focusing on basic math, reading, language arts and phonics skills for each grade level to reinforce skills they are learning in school. From second grade up almost all of the worksheets have answer sheets available.

In addition to the worksheets, there are literally hundreds of games available to reinforce the same skills- math tic-tac-toe games, 5 in a row reading skills games, slide & climb (Chutes & Ladders) phonics games, bingo games related to reading material from that week, and many more. Our first priority is to assist with homework. Once that is done, I find a combination of worksheets and games works best.

The elementary grade students are only there for about an hour or so each afternoon, so it's a commitment of about 6 hrs a week, but it's six hours that can really make a difference. My goal is one adult for each grade level.

If you think you might be interested, please contact me. Thank you!

Kate Goodridge in Memoriam

My Brothers and Sisters in Christ,

Tuesday morning at 6:20, Kate Goodridge, my love, defeated death, and entered the Kingdom of God. There will be a service of The Burial of the Dead at 10:00 am on Saturday, October 24th, followed by a Repast in the Parish Hall. The committal will be at 4:00 pm in the St. Francis Garden at St. Gabriel's in Titusville. It will be followed by a reception in the Parish Hall.

Kate was my perfect PIP (Person in the Pew) for my entire ministry, quietly working behind the scenes, encouraging me at my lowest, celebrating at my highest. She always looked great, and was a true champion of the work of clergy spouses.

As a send off, I'm posting some love songs I wrote and produced to her. The first cut is how we met, The second is how we grew together, The third, well it's about us just getting started. It was the last music she heard. If you're interested in learning how you can create love songs like these, call me at (321) 704-2949.
